

For Immediate Release:
January 8, 2019

Leap Into Welcoming LeRoy Butler

The School District of Altoona is excited to welcome former Green Bay Packer and inventor of the Lambeau Leap, LeRoy Butler, to our district on Thursday, January 10, 2019.

Butler played for Green Bay for 12 years and was part of the winning Super Bowl XXXI team. He was one of five children raised by his mother in “the projects” of inner city Jacksonville, Florida.

Butler will talk about his educational journey with students in grades 4 – 12 telling his story of growing up with clubbed feet, his struggles with bullying, and the progress he made physically and academically, overcoming these obstacles to attend college and eventually playing for the Green Bay Packers.

Time permitting, the visit will include photo and autograph opps for students.

*Butler presentation to 4-12 students:
January 10, Altoona High School Gym, 1:00 pm*

- Super Bowl XXXI Champion
- 4-time NFL Pro Bowl Selection
- 4-time All-Pro Selection
- NFL 1990's All-Decade First Team
- Green Bay Packers Hall of Fame Inductee
- Inventor of the Lambeau Leap

Joyce Orth, jorth@altoona.k12.wi.us
School District of Altoona,
715-839-6032
###